

Dear Automotive Repair Shop:

On behalf of the Car Care Council and Automotive Service Councils of California, we are writing to invite you to participate in a California program called the Cool Air Rebate Program. We believe that your expertise and commitment to excellence as an auto repair professional make you an ideal partner for this program.

The Cool Air Rebate Program aims to provide financial assistance to eligible Californians in your community to repair leaking air conditioning systems with R-134a refrigerant in their cars and light duty trucks. By participating, your auto repair shop will help your community stay cool and get paid by the Car Care Council to do it! Repair shops that completed only 26 repairs last year, or about one repair a week for 6 months, earned more than $20,000 directly from this new, exclusive program.

How Do Shops Become an Authorized Cool Air Rebate Program Repair Shop?

Your California business is in good standing.

Your shop:

- Performs light vehicle air conditioning repairs
- Is EPA 609 certified or has a certified technician on staff
- Disposes of R134a refrigerant in a legally compliant manner

You can provide:

- BAR ARD license number
- Business W9 form
- Image of a valid 609 certificate

Visit shops.CoolAirRebate.org/#apply to complete the short application today. Get approved in just a few days.

To discuss the details further or to address any questions you may have, visit shops.coolairrebate.org or call (888) 534-4728. We encourage you to visit our website CoolAirRebate.org for additional information about the Cool Air Rebate Program and our organization.

We look forward to partnering with your shop to make the Cool Air Rebate accessible to all eligible Californians.

Sincerely,
Car Care Council and
Automotive Service Councils of California
